

Voyager Cards with Chip Problem

As many of our drivers know we have had recent problems with our new Voyager cards that have an embedded chip not working at the fuel pumps.

The problem is more of the hardware/software of the gas pump card readers not the cards themselves. Our Voyager cards are set-up to allow 3 attempts for the chip to work. After the 3rd fail, the card automatically is primed to be swiped. However, some fuel stations have disabled this capability or made a policy where the attendants are not allowed to swipe the fuel cards.

Some, not all, commercial fueling stations have upgraded their gas pump card readers to improve Voyager card processing:
